SAVE THE DATE: September 17, 2010

Capturing the Energy Efficiency Opportunity: Lessons from EDF Climate Corps

As a Climate Corps Fellow, you worked hard to capture the benefits of energy efficiency for your host company - what insights did you gain? What did your other Climate Corps peers learn? This coming Fall, the Environmental Defense Fund and Duke University will host an interactive conference with EDF Climate Corps alumni and their host companies to distill the lessons learned from three years of work in the field.

Please join us to discuss how companies in EDF Climate Corps have captured the value of energy efficiency through Motivation, Identification, Financing, Implementation, and Benchmarking and Reporting (details to the left). The conference agenda includes an opening keynote speaker, facilitated working sessions on key process steps to capture the energy efficiency opportunity, and a concluding networking reception.

A travel and lodging stipend (up to $400) is available for each Climate Corps Fellow attending the conference.

THE CONFERENCE IS MADE POSSIBLE BY THE GENEROUS SUPPORT OF: